OneDegree Hong Kong Limited

Ngau Tau Kok, Kwun Tong District, Hong Kong

Re: Senior Growth Manager

Dear Hiring Manager,

OneDegree turned its first full-year profit in 2025 — HK$1 million on HK$330 million of revenue. That is a real milestone, and also a constraint: at that margin, the next stage of growth has to come from acquisition efficiency and output per head, not from spending more.

That is the problem I have spent the last four years solving.

At Baby Central, Hong Kong's #1 baby e-commerce platform, I owned HK$500,000+ per month in media — roughly HK$6 million a year — at a consistent 3–7x ROAS across Hong Kong and Southeast Asia, and delivered HK$300,000 incremental GMV within five months. When a client account was running at 0.3x ROAS, I rebuilt the creative pool and the landing path rather than the bidding, moved 70% of budget into cold prospecting, and took it to 3x in 90 days — growth from net-new customers rather than harvested demand.

On output per head: I led a team of three — two designers and one marketing executive — covering paid, social, EDM, offline events and a full website revamp. We shipped that revamp without paid performance dropping. The reason was AI. I put generative AI into commercial production in 2022, roughly two years before it became standard practice, which cut our A/B testing cycles by 50%. Today I build custom Claude skills and multi-step automation pipelines that take creative testing from two variants a cycle to ten-plus, while holding single-variable discipline — which is how a +200% conversion rate was produced rather than simply more output.

I test that pipeline on my own channels, where there is no media budget to hide behind. One Facebook Reel reached 76,000 organic views from a 77-follower page — roughly 990 times follower count, with zero paid support.

I have not worked inside insurance, and I would rather say that than pretend the regulatory learning curve does not exist. What does transfer is the shape of the business: a renewal-driven model rewards exactly the acquisition-and-retention thinking I have run as one system, including a 30,000-subscriber Klaviyo programme with welcome, abandoned-cart, post-purchase and win-back automation.

My expected salary is HK$55,000 per month. I am Hong Kong-based, fluent in Cantonese, English and Mandarin, and available at short notice.

I would welcome the chance to discuss where your acquisition costs are least efficient today, and what I would test first.

Yours sincerely,

Anson Chan
