PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Marketing leader with 8 years building and running growth functions for consumer and DTC brands across Hong Kong and Southeast Asia — HK$3M+ cumulative ad spend managed at 3–10x ROAS, including HK$500K+/month at Hong Kong's #1 baby e-commerce platform.

For the past two years I have built and operated @aieasyjob, a Cantonese-language AI education brand, entirely solo — strategy, content, production, distribution and analytics across YouTube, Instagram and Facebook. It is a marketing function of one: 84,000+ YouTube views across 57 videos, and a 76,000-view organic Facebook Reel from a 77-follower page — roughly 990x follower count with zero paid support.

That combination is the specific thing on offer here: someone who has run paid growth at real budget scale, and has spent two years learning how to make AI education land with a Hong Kong audience in their own language.

Trilingual: Cantonese (native), English (fluent), Mandarin (fluent). Hong Kong-based, available on-site.

WHAT I'D OWN IN THE FIRST 90 DAYS

Establish a single source of truth for the brand's claims. Adoption figures currently vary across the company's own web properties (80+ / 100+ / 150+ / 200+ schools). One verified, defensible number, applied consistently across the site, the deck, the app stores and partner co-marketing — because in an institutional sale, an inconsistent number is a procurement objection.

Build the demand-capture engine around the funding window. Every Hong Kong school now has a one-off HK$500,000 allocation under the AI for Empowering Learning and Teaching programme, plus the HK$2B QEF digital education pool. That is a time-boxed budget event with a defined buyer. The marketing job is to be the obvious answer when a principal or IT coordinator starts spending it — search presence, comparison content, procurement-ready collateral, and a nurture track built for a committee, not a shopper.

Turn teachers into the distribution channel. I built and scaled a 200+ KOL and influencer programme across HK and SEA. The same mechanics apply to teacher advocacy: identify the practitioners already using the product, equip them, and let peer proof do what advertising cannot in a trust-gated category.

Stand up measurement. GA4, attribution, and a pipeline view that connects content to trial to signed school — so budget decisions are made against pipeline, not impressions.

SELECTED RESULTS

Owned a HK$500K+/month budget in a trust-gated category

Baby Central — Hong Kong's #1 baby e-commerce platform, scaling across HK and SEA. Led creative direction and performance across Meta and Google (Search, Shopping, Performance Max, retargeting) at consistent 3–7x ROAS, driving HK$300K incremental GMV within 5 months and 30% organic traffic growth through integrated SEO and paid social. Built GA4 and Meta Ads Manager dashboards for monthly senior-stakeholder reporting.

Relevance: baby products, like education, are a category where parents do not buy on price — they buy on trust. The creative and proof mechanics transfer directly.

Rebuilt a failing account from 0.3x to 3x ROAS in 90 days

A fashion and lifestyle retailer was running Meta Ads at 0.3x ROAS with budget concentrated in warm retargeting. I rebuilt the full-funnel strategy, reallocated 70% of budget into cold-audience prospecting, and ran single-variable tests to isolate which hooks — not which audiences — were failing. ROAS reached 3x within 90 days on a majority-prospecting split — a harder result than a retargeting-led lift, because it proves net-new acquisition rather than harvesting existing demand.

Built an audience from zero, in Cantonese, on AI education

@aieasyjob — 84,000+ YouTube views across 57 videos; 7 videos published in the trailing 30 days. One Facebook Reel reached 76,000 organic views from a 77-follower page (~990x follower count, ~210x channel median) with no paid support; a second reached 11,000, confirming the result was structural. The channel converted directly into B2B consulting enquiries at HK$13,800/month packages — a working content-to-qualified-lead pipeline.

Relevance: this is the exact audience, language and subject matter of an AI education company's market — built without a budget.

Introduced generative AI into commercial production in 2022

Roughly two years before industry-wide adoption. Cut A/B testing cycles by 50% and materially reduced production cost. Today I run a full AI production pipeline — reusable prompt templates with conditional logic and QC checklists, automated competitor and trend monitoring, automated carousel generation — which is the only reason one person can sustain weekly multi-platform output at quality.

Grew a 30,000-subscriber lifecycle programme

Owned the Klaviyo content-to-conversion system at Baby Central — 2x weekly campaigns plus automated welcome, abandoned cart, post-purchase and win-back flows.

HONEST ASSESSMENT OF FIT

My eight years are in B2C performance and DTC e-commerce, not institutional B2B sales. School procurement is a long, committee-driven, subsidy-linked cycle — genuinely different from a Shopify funnel, and I would not pretend otherwise.

What transfers cleanly: budget discipline, attribution, creative testing at volume, partner-led distribution, and lifecycle nurture — a long B2B consideration cycle is a lifecycle problem, and lifecycle is something I have run. What I would need to learn is the procurement pathway itself: eLAFP and QEF vendor approval, the EDB funding calendar, and how a school actually signs. I would expect to be fluent in that within a quarter, and I would rather say so now than discover it in month two.
